1863 POCKET

Approx. 25,000 pieces were produced in three different version between 1863 and 1873. First type featured a brass frame and triggerguard. The second, identical in size and in mechanism to the first, featured a steel frame and a brass triggerguard. The third, and last of the series, was completely made of steel. The Pocket revolver is now available in all versions featuring walnut grips, case hardened hammer and trigger and blued octagonal barrel. Available also in nickel plated version and engraved version.
